RE: Temporary Compensation Program on behalf of The Individual Employers trading as ShopRite and FreshGrocer

Dear President Young:

Since we first implemented our Temporary Emergency Compensation Program on March 22, 2020, we have responded to the many discussions with our Union partners by extending the program several times. In the current discussions we have been requested to continue the program indefinitely, and we have responded with a number of suggested proposals. We cannot agree to maintain the payments on a semi-permanent basis.

Rather than conclude the program on July 4, 2020 when the current extension ends, we will modify the premium from $2.00 per hour to $1.00 per hour on July 5, 2020. The new premium will continue through August 1, 2020, when our program will be completed.

Of course, our safety protocols will continue as long as needed. We will monitor the changing situation and make adjustments when necessary. We also will continue to maintain our open dialogue with our collective bargaining partners about these issues and about our mutual concern for the welfare of our associates who are your members.

Very truly yours,

Anthony S. Fiergang

Mental Health Consultants:

A Guide to Utilizing Telehealth for the First Time

As large focus of a therapist's work is centered on creating strong therapeutic relationships by fostering a safe and comforting environment. This is traditionally done through in-person therapy; however due to the latest developments of COVID-19 many therapists are transitioning their practices to online services through the use of HIPPA compliant telehealth platforms. MHC is approving telehealth services to allow for timely, accessible, and most of all safe behavioral health services during this challenging time.

Benefits to Telehealth:

- Individuals are able to access their behavioral health services from the comfort and safety of their homes.
- Research shows that therapy offered via telehealth is found to be just as effective as in-person sessions.
- Telehealth allows individuals to maintain a sense of routine by remaining consistent with their regularly scheduled therapy appointments.
- Telehealth prevents disruption to already established goals and treatment.
- Therapists are able to provide timely support, coping and stress management skills to those who are struggling with the rapidly changing updates surrounding COVID-19.
- When utilizing telehealth services there is no additional cost to you. Your copay or coinsurance remains the same.

What to Expect:

For telehealth services, all you need is a computer, tablet, or cell phone that is equipped with video and microphone capabilities. Your provider will be utilizing a HIPPA compliant telehealth platform that they can share with you prior to your first appointment. It is most effective for you to treat your telehealth sessions as you would any other in-person appointment. Follow the tips below to have a successful telehealth experience:

- Find a quiet, private place that you can go to to participate in your telehealth session.
- Test out the equipment ahead of time. Speak with your provider prior to your first telehealth session and make sure you are able to access and connect with their telehealth platform without any difficulty.
- Make sure your laptop, tablet or cell phone is equipped to share both your video camera and microphone on your device.
- If using a laptop computer try connecting directly to the internet through an Ethernet cord to allow for a better connection during your session.
- Speak with your provider ahead of time to discuss any questions or concerns you may have about participating in telehealth services.
